ABOUT ME

I am a motivated and ambitious individual currently pursuing a Bachelor's degree in Information Technology, currently in my third year of studies. With a strong foundation in web development, I possess proficient skills in WordPress, HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. I have successfully developed and customized websites using these technologies, demonstrating a keen eye for design and a commitment to delivering high-quality work.

Driven by my passion for continuous learning and professional growth, I am actively expanding my skill set in the field of web development. Currently, I am focused on learning the MERN Stack technology, which comprises MongoDB, Express.js, React.js, and Node.js. This powerful combination enables the development of dynamic and interactive web applications.

With a strong academic background and a dedication to staying updated with industry trends, I am equipped to contribute effectively to web development projects. I am eager to apply my knowledge and skills in both WordPress and the MERN Stack to create innovative and user-friendly web solutions.
